

IDENTIFIED VOICE OF 2 MEN WHO HELD-UP INN

Trevose Woman Says She Recognized the Voices of Pair

COUNTY ENDS CASE

Trial Has Been in Progress For One Full Week

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 2—Identification of the voices of two of the defendants in the Trevose $1900 hold-up was testified to at the fourth day of the trial of the three defendants. Mrs. May Jones, storekeeper, and her housekeeper, Mrs. Ada Dean, said that they positively identified the voices of two of the men.

The defendants are Daniel Lockrey, 33, 856 North 5th street; Daniel Hezani, 27, 6012 Christian street, and Mitchell Kayser, 37, 1316 East Susquehanna street, Philadelphia, charged with 15 counts on one bill, involving burglary, robbery and assault and another charge on one bill, carrying a firearm without a license.

The Commonwealth, following the testimony of Sheriff Harry H. Ross, who said none of the defendants had a permit to carry a firearm which had been issued in Bucks county, closed its case. The trial began a week ago.

Mrs. Ada Dean, the first of the three victims to be tied to a bed and kept there from 8:15 until 10:30, testified that at a stand-up April 29, 1949, she recognized the voice of Mitchell Kayser as the stick-up man who told her it was a hold-up and Lockrey who put a gun against her ribs and said, "Don't move or I will use it."

Mrs. Jones, general storekeeper, said: "Lockrey used a phony Irish dialect."

Mrs. Dean said: "Kayser talked himself out the night I was tied, but at the stand-up in the cage he wouldn't say anything but his name and address."

Harry Carter Presents Laymen's Day Message

In observance of Laymen's Sunday, Walter J. Gottsabend led the Sunday morning worship in Bensalem Methodist Church. Gladys Yeagle, Dorothy Haas, Raymond Inglin and Lawrence Torton rendered a musical number. Charles Inglin, superintendent of the Sunday School, gave the message to the juniors. Ushers for the morning were: Lester Yeagle, Gilbert Myers and Charles Vansant.

Harry Carter presented the message. He explained that it is the laymen's job to do all they can in order to leave the minister free to do his tasks. Mr. Carter told how "laymen" figured in the vast change which Wesley made in the church.

Mr. Carter told a story of two doctors who both thought they had an incurable disease. Although these doctors lived in the same town they didn't know each other until introduced by a mutual friend. Now both doctors thought the other was able to be cured. Both lived with the idea of helping the other. In that way both lived for a great many years. The moral of this story was "By stepping into the other person's shoes we begin being servants of God."

Mr. Carter, in speaking of prayer, said, "Prayer is like a telephone on the wall, our only direct line with God." He added, "True prayer is the way of life, true life is the way of prayer. Are we big enough to pray and live that kind of life?"

A nation-wide strike of more than 4,000 ground workers brought sharp cuts in American Airlines service. Senator McMahon, again urging President Truman to take the lead toward world disarmament, proposed an immediate meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council to prepare an atomic-hydrogen disarmament plan for submission to the Soviet Union through the United Nations, whose General Assembly would be convened in Moscow. In the meantime, he said, the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee will review all phases of international control of atomic weapons.

An early meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Britain and France in connection with a North Atlantic Council session was reported under consideration in Washington.

United Nations officials doubted Russia would agree to an early Assembly meeting in Moscow, but Secretary General Lie has discussed a possible Security Council session in Europe to break the atomic and Chinese deadlocks.

Basic changes in unification of the armed services to assure smoother functioning and stricter civilian control were recommended by a House committee. Its report called for clear definition of national peace and security goals and of the effect of atomic warfare on present strategy.

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

With 106 members and guests in attendance, the Lions clubs of Dublin and Hilltown observed "ladies' night" at the American Legion home, in Perkasie, on Monday evening.

Serving as toastmaster was Joseph R. Kenny, Doylestown, and the guest speaker was the Rev. Frank W. Ruth, Bernville, who made a comparison of the times of the past with those today. It was largely through inventions that this nation made its progress, said the Rev. Mr. Ruth. He cited as an example Benjamin Franklin, who discovered electricity which today plays an important part throughout the world.

Additional inventions are being made, and man must learn how to put them to use. He referred to the atom bomb, and said that if the atom is used properly, it can be of great use.

A truck load of the finest brook trout obtainable in Pennsylvania (1900 in number) was released by the state February 24, with the assistance of Lewis Hamilton and William Rouse, of the Bucks Co. Fish and Game Assn.

Raised at Spring Mount Hatchery, these fish were in first class condition and no dead ones were found on arrival. They are from seven inches to 14 inches in length and should provide excellent fishing by the opening date, April 15.

In return, the foster parent receives a photograph and brief history of the child, and correspondence through the Plan office is encouraged.

FRUIT TREES NEED TO HAVE PROPER CARE

Carl Billman Tells Grangers Of Dwarf Fruit Trees For The Home

CONSIDER DRAINAGE

CHALFONT, Mar. 2—"Are dwarf fruit trees worth considering for the home orchard?" This was the question assigned to Carl Billman at the meeting of Chalfont Grange, on Monday evening.

Mr. Billman stated that if the orchardist desires success, he must give the trees the proper care. Many persons, he said, want to have fruit trees on their properties, but they fail to spray and prune them, with the result that they fail to bear.

With the planting of fruit trees, Mr. Billman told the approximately 25 persons at the meeting, the slope of the land, drainage facilities and varieties to be planted must be taken into consideration. Soil conditions must also be studied.

Concerning dwarf trees, Mr. Billman said he does not consider them practical because they require a great deal of spraying and pruning and they are rather slow in bearing.

During the business session the Grange decided to make a donation to the Bucks County Boy Scout Council, to serve a covered dish supper at the first meeting in April. A reading, "Thank You, February," by Mrs. Chester C. Martin, was followed by the listing of some vegetables suitable for freezing, by Mrs. Carl Billman. She named string and lima beans, carrots, peas, Swiss chard and kale.

Mrs. George Moll gave a reading, "Seed Catalogue Contagion," following which Mrs. Howard W.

TO INVITE SUPERVISORS OF BRISTOL TOWNSHIP TO NAME A COMMITTEE "REPRESENTATIVE OF DISTRICT" TO MEET WITH BOROUGH ORDINANCE COMMITTEE TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Archconfraternity of The Divine Child Has Session

EDDINGTON, Mar. 1—The monthly meeting of the Archconfraternity of the Divine Child was held at St. Francis Vocational School, on Friday. The meeting is held on the 25th of the month or on the nearest school day. This organization has for its purpose giving Christ His rightful place in the lives of youth, and fosters candidates to the priesthood and teaching profession. It is a world-wide organization peculiar to the Brothers of the Christian Schools and has its headquarters in the Holy Land.

The program consisted of, besides the usual confraternity exercises, a talk given by Brother James of St. Francis. The speaker used the dramatic words of Cardinal Woolsey for his topic: "If I had served my God with as much fidelity as I served my King, He would not have now abandoned me."

The world-wide scope of the archconfraternity was interrupted during the war but has now been pretty much restored.

BUS FARES ARE TO BE INCREASED IN AREA

Neibauer Co. Posts New Tariffs for Ten-Cent Fare

NO STRIP TICKETS

Tariffs have been filed and posted in the offices of the Neibauer Bus Co., here, announcing that a new rate schedule will become effective March 26th. "The tariffs will be produced for examination upon request," says the announcement.

The increase will mean that a straight 10 cent cash fare will be required for each zone. This, an official of the Neibauer company states, will eliminate sale of strip tickets, which now sell at 12 for $1.05.

The increase applies to all lines operated by the company—Bristol-Newton, Philadelphia-Morrisville; and the two local routes, operating in Bristol borough and Bristol township.

The increase in fares, it is announced, "is necessitated because of decrease in passenger riding, and increase in cost of operation."

For individuals who might still have tickets left when the fare increase goes into effect, Neibauer officials are "considering possibility of accepting zone tickets, plus one cent for each ticket, for a period of 30 days after date new tariff is effective."

An annual $10,479 additional yield would be gained by the increase, which the company says is necessary to meet higher operating costs.

Representatives of School Boards Also To Be Invited To Join Conference—Opinions Aired Last Evening Upon Whether Bristol Township Should Be A First or A Second Class Township, and Whether Bristol Borough Should Make Further Capital Expenditures To Supply Township With Additional Services.

Bristol Township supervisors are to be invited to name a committee, "truly representative of the district," to meet with the ordinance committee of Bristol Borough Council. Then the two groups are to discuss across the table the mutual problems of the two districts. This was the announcement made, last evening, at a public meeting called by Burgess I. J. Hetherington in the municipal building. Representatives of the school boards are also to be invited to join in the conference.

There took place airing of opinions upon whether Bristol Township should be a first or a second class township, and whether or not Bristol Borough should make further capital expenditures to supply Bristol Township with additional services, such as water and sewer facilities.

Announcement of the invitation to the supervisors to name such a committee was made by Burgess Hetherington, who said that letters would go out from his office to the supervisors.

Burgess Hetherington opened the meeting, which was attended to the capacity of the assembly room. In welcoming the group the burgess stated that this meeting was one of a series he has been holding, with various groups to discuss Bristol and its affairs.

He told of the shrinking of the well water supply and of the inadequacy of the present water system of Bristol to meet the ever increasing needs of both the township and the borough. He said that so far as the borough is concerned the water and sewer systems are adequate.

He told that he did not consider it equitable to ask the taxpayers of Bristol Borough to make further capital expenditures to improve these services to care for outside territory when such outside territory did not participate in the capital investment.

The borough's consulting engineer has advised the borough, it was stated, "not to make any further extensions of its water systems or add new consumers."

It was stated by Burgess Hetherington that proposed plans for sewer plant rebuilding will cost approximately $250,000 to care for a population of 31,000 an anticipated growth over a 20 year period. The water system improvement is expected to cost $1,000,000.

The water contract between the borough and the township executed in 1953, under which water is furnished to the township residents, both for fire protection and domestic consumption was reviewed. The township at the time of executing this contract incurred a bonded

West Bristol Man Said To Have Admitted His Actions To Police

A PEBBLE FELLER GOLIATH

There is something challenging about the fact that a 17-year-old girl's testimonial about democracy will be translated into the Ukrainian tongue of her parents — and beamed across the seas deep into the lands dominated by the Soviets.

This is the testimonial of Gloria Chomak, whose essay "I Speak for Democracy" has won her national honors. Born in Canada of Ukrainian parents, Gloria came to this country two years ago — and she speaks out boldly and courageously for democracy because, as she says, two generations back her ancestors could not.

She is now engaged in translating her essay into Ukrainian and she will broadcast it by way of the Voice of America for Slavic consumption.

It is not hard to imagine somebody somewhere in the Ukraine listening to this girl as she tells of democracy and what it offers the people of the United States. Her own brief experience in this country is a testimonial of its own to the advantages of the American system.

But, it may be asked, what can a girl do — in the face of the immensity of the communist empire? The probabilities are that her essay, no matter how much it may impress Americans, will not make a dent overseas.

But there is the story of a shepherd boy going forth to battle a giant — and the only weapon David had was a sling shot. Who ever thought that a well-rounded pebble hurled from a single sling shot could have felled a giant?
Who will say that the message of a girl will bear no fruit?

RIGHT DRESS!

It was as inevitable as reveille
— the Army has announced revised uniforms for its feminine warriors, designed to make them personalized bombshells. The glamorized wardrobe reflects the ine Parisian hand of Hattie Car-regie, fresh from creating the wedding suits of Mrs. Allen Barley and Mrs. William O'Dwyer.

Hattie has taken out a little here and put in a little there, ban-der the neckties and put a saucy tilt to the visored hats. The results were modeled at an Army fashion show and it's said several generals, about to be mustered out or age, have asked for extensions of active duty.

Emphasis of the new siren suits is on individuality. Starting January, 1951, there will be distinctive decors for Wacs, Army nurses and the women's medical specialist corps. And each group will have separate ensembles for winter and summer wear, not to mention smartly tailored slacks for usual around-the-barracks use.
The gals took to wearing nylon ose and high-heeled shoes before the shooting stopped in the last war.

Morale is an important phase of soldiering, regardless of sex, and if Uncle Sam wants his nieces to keep trooping to the colors he's got to make life interesting.

COLORFUL AND ATTRACTIVE

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

THE ranch house craze is sweeping the country — east, west, north and south. One of the most attractive versions of this rambling type dwelling that we've seen combines stone and siding. The front of the house (living and bedroom area) is stone. The kitchen frontage is siding. Charming stone flower boxes make for a contrast.

The car port adds to the rambling look of the house. It might also be used for shady outdoor summer dining or it could double as a recreation area.

Here is a house with two sets of plans — one with a basement, one without. The basement plan gives the homemaker valuable additional work space in the kitchen. The exact size of this room is 14'6" x 16'. Other features include a linen closet and a recess for storing mops and brooms. The basement plan also allows for a larger back porch, 10'x10'. The house without a basement has slightly less work space in its 11'6" x 9'6" kitchen. Instead, there is a large utility room that houses tubs and heater. These facilities would be located in the basement of the other house.

In both plans, combining the living room and the dining room makes for a living area that extends the depth of the house. Here is something to please homemakers who are never able to find a large enough living room.

Generous closet space is another feature of the house. There are closets in the hall and both bedrooms, as well as a linen closet.

For information as to where the plans may be obtained send a self-addressed envelope with your query to this paper. Specify which plan you are in-terested in.

A COMBINATION of stone and siding makes this ranch house un-usually colorful and attractive. The decorative car port, at left, adds to the rambling ranch type effect. It might also be used for outdoor dining in warm weather or as a recreation area for the children.

The Rev. Paul Gleichman
923 Cedar Street
Bristol, Pa.

Dear Paul:

Thanks a great deal for the newspaper I received from you today.
The Bristol Courier certainly did a good job of reporting our conference. To get a front-page spot and as complete a write-up as they gave us is very unusual. They did a very good job. If you get an opportunity to tell them so we shall appreciate it.

Many thanks again for all that you did in connection with the conference.

Sincerely,
JAMES E. BRISTOL

Our sincere thanks, also, to the
"Bristol Courier."

A recent evening meeting of this committee was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Kates. After the work session, Mrs. Kates served refreshments.

Several books were donated by one of the mothers for the library shelves of a first grade room in Croydon school. They have been greatly enjoyed by the children as they browsed over them or listened as they were read to them by the teacher. The children were particularly fascinated by one which is an action book.

Much enthusiasm was shown in writing a note to thank the mother for her gift. All of the children participated in this activity but only the note chosen by the children as the best one was sent.

Epilepsy Declines With Age

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IF your baby or young child ever had a convulsion in connection with teething, fever, or upset stomach, you may have had some anxiety even after a number of years lest this child might be or become an epileptic.

Dr. Douglas Thom, in a study of 8,823 children in Boston found that nearly seven out of each hundred had one or more convulsions during their first five years. In the last war only seven out of a thousand men were excluded because of epilepsy. This is only a tenth as many as had convulsions in infancy or early childhood. Therefore, a relatively small proportion of babies and young children who have convulsions continue to have seizures.

Hopeful Outlook

Before the recent convention of the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults, held in New York City, Dr. Frederic Gibbs gave a very hopeful outlook for most epileptics. He said that drugs now available may, with proper medical use, allow 85 percent of the epileptics to live normally. Dr. Gibbs is connected with the Illinois University Medical School and is president of the American branch of The International League Against Epilepsy.

In Parents' Magazine, February, 1948, is a very helpful article by William G. Lennox, M.D., under the title, "Epilepsy, the Hopeful Disorder." After describing "grand mal," the worst type of seizure, which may be days, months or years apart, he explains "petit mal," which usually recurs many times a day. "If there is any movement of the muscles," he says, "it is merely a rhythmic twitching of facial muscles. This form of seizure is confined almost wholly to children or adolescents, for attacks tend to disappear of their own accord before adulthood. These seizures may be so light as to pass almost unnoticed. The brain-machine is most useful in detecting this variety."

May Be Aided

In the meanwhile, the thing for parents who have observed epileptic seizures in their children or other members of the family to do is to ask their family physician to refer them to an M.D. who has specialized in this field. This specialist may be aided in his diagnosis by the highly-developed brain-wave test.

Dr. Lennox warns parents against individuals who sell epilepsy treatments by mail.

"The ideal," says Dr. Lennox, "is to treat the epileptic child just like his healthy brother or sister.... Continuance of normal activity is an integral part of the treatment."

He further says that mental backwardness does not necessarily or even usually follow in the wake of epilepsy; that the part played by heredity is no greater than in diabetes; and that all employment, except those which involve physical hazards, should be open to patients.

"Most encouraging," he says, "is the realization that time is on the side of the patient. Seizures tend to get better as the years pass and many stricken parents find their children are living normal lives as a result of intelligent medical attention, plus the goodness of God."

Identified Voice of Two Men Who Held-Up Inn

Policeman Keith R. Dane, Langhorne; State Police Detectives Gane Carfagno and George Sauer and Frank Gallagher, Philadelphia police stenographer.

Several times Lockrey, one of the defendants whose relatives are in court, had to be quieted down because he accused his attorney of being on the "D. A.'s side," and making other remarks.

Daniel Bezanis, after hearing Mrs. Dean's testimony, shouted, "Tell the truth."

Detective Carfagno testified that Lockrey put Mrs. Jones' glasses on the night table and that Bezanis told him the pipe, which was used to hit Henry Eckhoff over the head, came from Kaysier's cellar.

For the second time during the three-day trial of three Philadelphians, Daniel Lockrey, Daniel Bezanis and Mitchell Kaysier, one of the trio, Lockrey, jumped to his feet and shouted, "There's life involved here" while objecting to the testimony of a Philadelphia superintendent of detectives, George F. Richardson, who Monday testified that one of the defendants, Bezanis, outlined various "jobs" done in Philadelphia and the one at Treviso.

Supl. Richardson testified that Bezanis said Daniel Lockrey, Mitchell Kaysier and Victor Fischuk drove to Treviso Dec. 17, 1948, when they bound Mrs. May Jones, Mrs. Ada Dean and Henry Eckhoff, in one bed and robbed them of about $2,000.

"Bezanis told me that Kaysier hit Eckhoff over the head with an iron pipe and that he didn't know why he did it, because Eckhoff offered no resistance," the Superintendent of Detectives said.

Victor Fischuk, the fourth member of the hold-up gang, is still at large, a fugitive from justice. Only three have been indicted in court.

here, on two bills, one of which contains 15 counts.

During the trial one of the defendant's counsel made a motion for the withdrawal of a juror because of references in a newspaper to his record. President Judge Hiram H. Keller refused the motion, but two issues of the paper were admitted to be entered as exhibits and will become a part of the record of the trial.

State Police Andrew J. Kutney, of the Langhorne sub-station, testified that Bezanis told him that Kaysier informed him that he had a "soft touch."

State Policeman Kutney, who was the first officer to reach the hold-up scene about 11 o'clock that night, picked up the iron pipe which was lying on a table in the kitchen.

"Kaysier and Lockrey went in through the window and one of them left Victor and Bezanis in through the kitchen door. Bezanis told me, Lockrey and Kaysier tied the housekeeper to the bed first. Bezanis got about $175 or $180. Kaysier pointed out the Treviso house and store. Fischuk was the one who said, 'Here they come' as Mrs. Jones and Henry Eckhoff were bringing home the money from the store."

"Bezanis said the money was put into a pillowcase, wrapped in newspaper and they returned to the home of Mitchell Kaysier in Philadelphia, where it was split," said Trooper Kutney.

At the stand-up in the electrically lighted cage April 29, Lockrey said, "I was up to Bucks county, but I don't know the name of the place on the night of Dec. 17, 1948." Trooper Kutney testified.

Fortune smiles on those who make a habit of reading Courier Want Ads.

By Jim Larkin

The stormy March has come at last, with winds and clouds and changing skies. For Florida I'd bet it fast, were it as rich as I am wise.

The society reporter remarks that there seem to be fewer of the one popular "surprise parties". Maybe it's because, after recent hectic years, nothing can surprise us now.

KEN KEENE THE CORNER DRUGGIST

"My friend, Bill Russell, who runs a manufacturing plant in Greenville, made one of his men do some thinking recently," said Ken Keene. I remarked that to induce thinking is a good idea, and asked for details.

"Well," said Ken, "he asked the fellow if he would be willing to work for a week at no pay. The employee said that he certainly would not be willing, unless it was necessary to save the business. Then Bill pointed out to the man that, during 1949, he actually had worked for almost two months without being paid for it—because the money was taken for various taxes. He said that the man looked very thoughtful for a time and then said, 'Holy cats! I didn't realize it was that much!' I guess that's what all many people," concluded Ken, "they aren't good realizers."

DEFINITIONS IN RHYME

If your thinking's too SOMATIC, then you should elsewhere steer it; For it relates to the body, and not things of the spirit.

NEMESIS—crooks will find it in a penal institution; The simple meaning of the word is justice, retribution.

A reader writes: "Since reading your 'Definitions in Rhyme' I have made it a habit to look up definitions of many words encountered in general reading, and which I used to gloss over although I did not know the meanings. You have helped me increase my vocabulary". Fine, pal; that's the purpose I had in mind.

Late winter fogs and storms make it necessary for you to be especially cautious—whether driving on streets or highways, or walking on them.

It is claimed that Cortisone, new hope for arthritis sufferers, also may cause a speeding up of brain activity. One wonders whether this secondary blessing does not reach a needy world about thirty years too late.

Man's mind has not been able to make a machine that works like his own brain, says a British neurologist. Considering large-scale examples of the human mental machine problem, why carry on the inventive effort?

Don't replace an electric fuse with a piece of tinfoil or metal—unless you are willing to chance a fire from a current overload. Fuses are safeguards; keep plenty of them on hand.

"What you don't know won't hurt you," says the old wheeze. But I also have found that the many things which I do not know, never did me a bit of good, either.

You young people are doing not only a fine job, but a very important one for the welfare of our country. I intend to keep up with your activities in this column. Meanwhile, if you have anything special cooking, let me hear from you. Address: Jim Larkin, 757 No. Broadway, Milwaukee 2, Wis.

Placed in Mill creek from Buckingham to Wycombe, these fish will be within a short drive from Doylestown and will find many "eager beavers" down at the bridges each weekend, leaning over the rail to pick out the one they hope to catch.

Membership of Midway Fire Company was increased by five at its meeting, here on Monday. New members are Eugene Henderson, who has succeeded Harry Wipred, as caretaker at the fire house; Herbert Foster, Doylestown, R. D.; Earl Rockafellow, Forest Grove; Victor Soweck, Buckingham, and J. Samuel Leaver, Mechanicsville.

Report was made that the firemen had not been called to any fires the past month, and members were informed by the building committee that the annex at the fire house is nearing completion.

Reading Roadbed At New Hope Is Rebuilt

NEW HOPE, Mar. 2 — The rebuilding of its roadbeds over Bridge street has been started by the Reading Railroad Co.

This rebuilding is necessary, it is stated, because of the general reconstruction of Bridge street by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

A work crew of the Bell Telephone Company also has been busy the past 10 days relocating lines to facilitate the street improvements.

Work is expected to start very soon on the removal of the present bridge over the canal prior to rebuilding the entire street. So far no action has yet been taken by the Philadelphia Electric Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, the other two utilities affected by the new program.

FINED FOR SLASHING TIRES

A young Bristol man, Walter Cartledge, 23, was arrested in Trenton, N. J., for allegedly punching holes in tires of factory workers' cars with a knife. His explanation to police was: "I wanted to hear the air making 'sizz'ing noises." Cartledge was fined $50 on a charge of malicious mischief. The offenses occurred, it is said, in the parking yard of Trenton Pottery Co. Cartledge is a pipe fitter there.

$300 in Cash is Loot Secured, Bensalem School

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Mar. 2 — State police of Langhorne barracks are continuing their investigation of the robbery which occurred sometime between Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning at Bensalem township high school here.

According to information given by the police this morning, $300 in cash, cafeteria funds, was stolen from a desk in one of the offices. Various things were distributed throughout the offices they state.

Police claim that entrance was gained by the thief or thieves by means of an unlocked window.

HONOR MRS. STEVENSON

A party was arranged by Miss Eva Tranotti in honor of her sister, Mrs. Josephine Stevenson, at the Tranotti home, 356 Dorrance street, on Tuesday evening. The affair was a surprise to the guest of honor, who was presented with gifts. Mrs. Stevenson, who was 21 years of age, was presented with an orchid corsage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tranotti. Refreshments were served to approximately 50 guests.

MANHATTAN, Kas. — (INS) — Some of the horses formerly ridden by the Army's famous Olympic drill team are now being used by the rodeo and riding club at Kansas State College. The mounts were part of a group of 12 received from the Cavalry Replacement Training Center at Fort Riley.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

TAKING the chore out of shopping is something the food store people are giving a lot of thought to these days. Take, for example, the meat departments of the super markets. Customers can now walk up to neat, refrigerated cases and pick out a pre-packaged cut of beef, pork, lamb or poultry. No waiting in line and the price and weight is marked right there on the cellophane wrapping. The folks seem to like this idea, too.

Try shopping for your meat this way if you happen to have one of these stores near you. But whether you do or not, A & P Service for Homemakers suggests that you try this meat treat for Sunday Dinner — Braised Beef Burgundy.

To make this appetizing dish, heat three tablespoons of bacon drippings or other fat in a large skillet. Then add two pounds of beef stew meat cut up into cubes and a large onion thinly sliced. Sauté, stirring frequently until meat is nicely browned. Sprinkle in four tablespoons of flour and stir until pieces of meat and onion are coated. Add one cup of boiling water, one cup of Burgundy or additional water and one two-ounce can of mushroom stems and pieces, including liquid. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Add parsley, bay leaf, thyme, salt and pepper.

Cover tightly and simmer gently one hour. Add six medium-sized cut-up carrots and four large cut-up potatoes. Then cover again and continue cooking slowly one hour longer or until meat and vegetables are tender. Then, if just before serving you add peas, you'll have enough of this dish for six people.

It'll be a meal the family will long remember if you top it off with a wedge of chignon apricot pie and a steaming cup of coffee.

YOUR PIES CAN'T FAIL WITH FLAKO PIE CRUST MIX

Just think! Every pie you bake with Flako turns out perfectly at every baking. That's because the ingredients are precision-mixed. No guesswork, therefore no failures. You simply add water, roll and bake.

Hollywood Beauty Parade

By Max Factor

(Famous Make-up Advisor to the Screen Stars now writing for I.N.S.)

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Ordinarily I take great pains to see to it that I do not become involved in arguments about feminine costume fashions. These are strictly out of my line. Besides, nobody ever won one of these arguments, anyway.

But I've just noted something which leads me to depart from this usually steadfast attitude of mine. Some prominent costume stylists are making a definite pitch for revival of the straight up and down effects which were so popular during some of the years of the 1920 decade.

I don't know whether this boyish silhouette effect is going to become the supremely stylish one or not, and as far as the appearance results go, I'm not concerned. But I am concerned from this angle. If this does become the style of all styles, it is going to demand an exceptional degree of slenderness to be presented at its best, just as was the case back in the 1920's. And, history may repeat itself. Many women will starve themselves too thin, too swiftly, and their health and good looks will suffer.

If this boyish figure costume comes along to intrigue you, and you know your figure of the moment isn't the ideally thin one for such a scheme, think over such points as these before going in for any quick and drastic losing of pounds.

If you weigh a lot more than you should, see your doctor. Don't go on any drastic diet which you have just thought up yourself, or which some friend has told you about. The diet routine you thus select may not be the right one for you. Let your doctor prescribe a diet specifically tailored to meet your own individual case.

You can, however, of your own volition, do such an elementary and sensible thing as just cutting down on the amount you eat, as long as this decrease is not such a pronounced one that you are actually afflicting yourself with a not too slow degree of starvation.

Be steady, consistent, and moderate in exercising. Too many women who determine to exercise defeat their purpose by exercising so much at one time that they exhaust themselves, and make their muscles almost unbearably sore and tender. This immediately discourages them from doing any more exercise for several days or weeks, if ever. A moderate amount of exercise every day, day after day, and week after week, is much better for you than a terrific amount of such exercise just every now and then.

It is much, much easier to get back to a correct weight and maintain it there when you have gained only a few pounds than it is to try the same thing after you have gained a great many. So watch your weight and your waistline, and if they show even a hint of needing some control, get at it immediately. This is a good thought to bear, no matter what costume styles may be in the offing.

FIFTH WARD TEAM NOSES OUT PROFY BY SCORE OF 38-36

In the first upset last night, the Fifth Ward Sporting Club nosed out the league-leading Profy team, 38-36, on the Rohm & Haas court in a Bristol Basketball League tilt.

It was a close and bitterly fought contest from the start with the lead changing hands several times. At one time, Fifth Ward enjoyed a 25-19 lead but this was whittled down until Konefal scored a foul to deadlock the score at 28-28.

Here the fighting became the toughest. Joe Potenza dropped in a foul to give Fifth Ward the lead and he followed with a two-pointer to make the score, 31-28. John Pindar registered a Profy goal but Francis Constantino got it back for the Warders. When Pindar again cut the cords with a two-pointer, the score was 33-32. Constantino and Joe Natale made field goals and again Fifth Ward maintained its one-point margin. Ed Mazzanti converted a foul and the Warders had a two-point lead, 36-34. Mazzanti made it 38-34 and before the tilt ended, "Ham" Konefal sunk a field goal for the radiomen.

The score was deadlocked at the end of the first quarter with each team having five points. Konefal's field and foul goal enabled Profy's to take a 14-12 half-time lead while Fifth Ward was ahead at the end of the third session, 28-25.

Joe Potenza and Francis Constantino paced the Warders with 14 and 11 points, respectively. Pindar and Konefal had 15 and 11 points respectively, for the losing team.

Bring A Touch of That Little Green Isle To St. Patrick's Day Dinner

It's a day for the Irish. But whether the homemaker is serving true Erin folks or not, here's a tempting menu with an Irish flair. Spicy meat loaf—a wearin' the green—may provide the main course of St. Pat's dinner. Use a small shamrock cookie cutter and cut the designs from green pepper. Arrange the shamrocks in the bottom of a greased ring mold and top with the meat mixture. When cooked, unmold on a large platter and fill the ring with parsleyed potatoes.

In preparing meat loaf you have a choice of ground beef, veal, pork, and lamb and ham or various combinations of these meats, points out Reba Staggs, home economist. Ham is especially grand with fresh pork or veal. For flavor variation, horseradish, catsup or prepared mustard may be added to the meat mixture.

If desired, the ground meat mixture may be baked in individual muffin tins. Of course, this way they will take much less cooking time. Be sure to grease the pans so the little loaves will come out easily. Perhaps you may want to surprise the family with your meat loaf revealing a bread stuffing. Place half the ground meat mixture in the bottom of the greased pan, spread a layer of bread stuffing over it and top with the remaining ground meat mixture. Shelled hard-boiled eggs may be placed between the layers of meat in this same manner.

Along with meat loaf and parsleyed potatoes, a green molded salad will be appropriate—made in shamrock molds if you have them. Include in the menu buttered asparagus tips and cloverleaf rolls. For dessert on this day you'll want colorful mint ice cream topped with thick chocolate sauce.

TAKE TIME NOW TO REPAIR FURNITURE; ADD TO ITS VALUE

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Now is a good time to repair that furniture you put away because it was not presentable. All members of the household may have a part in restoring a chair to usefulness. Recaning or reweaving a seat for a chair is not a difficult task but it requires time and patience. The cost of repairing a chair seat is small when you do it yourself and you can have a professional looking job when the caning is finished.

There are two types of chairs for which cane is used. If the seat frame has holes bored into it, the seat must be woven in. If there are grooves in the frame, the seat requires a cane that is already woven, generally known as pressed cane. This type of cane is held securely in the frame with a narrow spline and glue.

All necessary repairing and re-finishing should be done before the caning is started.

Detailed directions for recaning or reweaving chair seats are given in Pennsylvania Agricultural Extension Service Circular 315. For a copy of this circular write to the agricultural extension office in Doylestown.

FRANKLIN MISSES 1ST PLACE; UPSET BY ROHM & HAAS

Franklin A. C. missed an opportunity of taking undisputed possession of first place in the Bristol Basketball League when it was upset by the Rohm & Haas quintet, 66-64, last night on the latter's court at Maple Beach.

It was a stunning defeat handed to the second place team by the tail-enders, although it enabled the chemical workers to maintain its mathematical chance of finishing in a deadlock for fourth place.

The Maple Beach aggregation started off like a whirlwind and built up a 25-19 advantage in the first quarter, principally on the shooting of "Jim" Ehl, Don DeLong, and "Angie" Everett. Ehl made 11 points in the period with DeLong having six and Everett, eight. However, Franklin scored 24 points in the second session while holding the Rohm and Haas team to 15. Both Tony Palumbo and "Bill" Wallack scored a trio of double-deckers in this period for the Franklin team.

The Rohm and Haas lead was cut to four points as the third session ended with the score, 51-47. Palumbo again cut the net for three field goals while Everett made 7 more points for Rohm and Haas. Franklin made 17 points in the last 10 minutes of play while the ultimate winners had 15 points. "Daisy" DeLise made eight points for Franklin in the finale while both Ehl and DeLong made five for Rohm and Haas.

Fred Barbetta made three double-deckers against the Franklin team but his final two-pointer proved to be the deciding factor of the night. Ehl and Everett were high scorers for Rohm & Haas with 18 and 16 points while DeLise had 18 for Franklin with Palumbo having 17. Sunday afternoon, the hot race continues with Tullytown playing Fifth Ward and the Hibernians clashing with the Profy team.

To Invite Supervisors of Township to Meet With Boro' Ordinance Committee debt of $80,000, and $45,000 of it has been paid off by Bristol Borough from rentals received at $39 per year for each fire hydrant. In 1964 the water system in the township becomes the property of the borough.

The tax rates of various first class townships were given and in some instances were disputed. The figures appeared to be in question. The costs of operating a first class township and one of the second class were argued pro and con.

The police protection furnished the township which channels its police calls through the borough's police headquarters, paying the borough $1100 annually for the service, was mentioned.

The facts as outlined, from the standpoint of the borough, and as recited by Burgess Hetherington, were substantiated by President of Council, John F. Smoyer, 3d, Chairman of Health Committee, Richard T. Myers, Chairman of Street Committee, James Egan, and Chairman of Water Committee, Dennis J. Roche.

The spokesman for the Bristol Township Civic Association, James E. Harris, Croydon, presented the case for the township. He asked in what manner Bristol Township becoming one of the first class entered into the question being debated. The matter of Bristol making capital expenditures for facilities improvement to aid those outside of the borough's boundaries, was given as the answer.

Mr. Harris said that if Bristol Township became a first class district its borrowing capacity will be increased and that it should become such a district because of its population. He also said that it would protect the boundaries of the district and that more money would be received from the state gas tax.

Mr. Harris informed that the 67 counties in the state are all opposed to the laws which now permit adjoining districts annexing portions of the second class townships. This cannot be done if the townships are of the first class.

He said that he thought the matter of the relations between Bristol Borough and Bristol Township should be considered impartially at an across-the-table discussion, by a committee from each of the districts. He said the problems are mutual and should be approached as such. He complimented the officers of Bristol township and the school board. "Can't a small group get together and with our combined assets perhaps the proposition can be put across?"

Burgess Hetherington had suggested the same plan a number of times.

It was frequently stated that the borough officials have no designs upon the township or any portion thereof. It was stated that Bristol borough officials are faced with certain problems which must be solved.

The meeting then resolved into a question and answer affair, which became somewhat heated and animated, until adjournment was taken. There were a number of opinions expressed from the floor.

vatrice's father died in Cardara on the 15th of July, 1943, as the result of wounds he suffered when Cagliari was severely bombed on February 26, 1943. In observance of "Judy" Anderson's fourth birthday anniversary, her cousins, Rosemary and Michael Catalano, arranged a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catalano, Main street, on Feb. 22nd. "Judy" was presented with gifts by the guests who enjoyed games and television programs. Ice cream.

A THRIVING PROGRAM

National 4-H Club Week will be observed by nearly 2,000,000 club members in all parts of the United States during the week of March 4-12.

"Better Living for a Better World" will be the theme of 4-H Club members in fulfilling their objectives: (1) developing talents for greater usefulness; (2) joining with friends for work, fun, and fellowship; (3) learning to live in a changing world; (4) choosing a way to earn a living; (5) producing food and fiber for home and market; (6) creating better homes for better living; (7) conserving nature's resources for security and happiness; (8) building health for a strong America; (9) sharing responsibilities for community improvements; and (10) serving as citizens in maintaining world peace.

Many of the clubs plan for the coming year during this week. Some clubs will set up window displays to show their work. During 1949 there were over 500 boys and girls in Bucks County carrying some 550 projects in such phases of work as clothing, child care, outdoor cookery, vegetable gardening, poultry, and baby beef.

The interest of parents of club members and the support of local leaders for their guidance and encouragement to club members are responsible to a great extent for the thriving 4-H club program sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Association.

G. O. P. WOMEN PLAN CRUSADE FOR WOMEN

Aggressive Policy Will Be Presented To The 1951
Legislative Session

POSITIVE PROGRAM

HARRISBURG, Mar. 2 — Republican women of Pennsylvania are going to crusade for women, according to a unanimous determination expressed at a recent state-wide meeting of the Legislative Committee, Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, held at the Headquarters Office, Second and South streets. Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., of Haverford, chairman of the committee, presided. Mrs. Meade D. Detweiler, Jr., is the co-chairman of the committee which numbers among its personnel key Republican women in the Commonwealth.

The members of the legislative committee, experts in various fields which affect women, children and government, have determined on an aggressive policy which will be formulated during the summer months and will be presented to the 1951 session of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

It was pointed out that, through the efforts of the Republican Council, Pennsylvania has the best child labor laws in the 48 states and that the Commonwealth's "equal pay for equal work" bill for women is the most complete in the United States.

The women will review the legislation on education, welfare, health, public assistance, labor, municipal laws, and legal status of women. They will campaign actively after the primaries for the enactment of such legislation as will bring greater protection to the women and children, on a state-wide, rather than a Federal level, believing in the philosophy of home rule. The Council of Republican Women, as an organization, does not take a stand in a primary contest, but stands squarely for the Republican ticket following the primaries. The Council membership currently is $2,000.

Their program will be positive and progressive, to meet the needs of the day and the hour, according to Mrs. Huber.

These committees were appointed:

Trenton Wrestlers To Be Here Tomorrow

Lower Merion High was originally scheduled to appear here but cancelled their match due to its coach having an engagement to referee matches at some other school.

EASY PICKINGS

BEAVERTON, Ore. — (INS) — Cucumbers-pickers' backache may be the latest human misery to be eliminated. John Ehler has built a mechanical carrier—looking somewhat like the undercarriage and wings of a large airplane. It carries the recumbent pickers along the rows belly-flop position on cushions under the wings—in the shade, too. Good for strawberries, too.
